1 the lectures and homework were helpful. Not sure if it possible, but having the drawings posted with the lecture slides would be helpful. 1 I think that the lecture, explanation, and examples given by the lecturer was very intuitive. It helped me understand the challenging concepts a lot more than if I just relied on the reading materials. I think the whole structure and delivery of the course was really good because I could relate some topics on trade and government regulations on other courses based on the explanations given from this course. I love the mountain dew and food references that was brought continually throughout the course. It really helped me stay awake and engaged in the class. The analogies that the lecturer presented and side anecdotes were also very intuitive and fun. I can still remember some of the side notes that I found relatable and fun. I think that the professor can do more of these because those were the real highlights of this course (aside from the actual context) 1 The course covers the basics of economics pretty well. However perhaps one improvement would be to include more notes for the slides in case a person cannot join and has internet issues and can only download the slides. 1 a. The overall structure is clear b. Learning this material over zoom was rather difficult and could be unclear sometimes. I think weekly quizzes going over the material would help and more study materials 1 I feel that the professor was such a master of the material that for some of the topics he struggled to present them to the class in a basic manner before getting complex. I have never taken an Econ or business class before and right from the first lecture was lost on some of the terminology that was presented with no explanation. 1 a. Clear expectations and he wants you to do well! b. Structuring lecture material differently to be more clear would be very helpful c. More study materials on blackboard 1 I think that the lecturer was still really into teaching us eventhough only a few of us came to the live classes. I really appreciate the effort he gives to teach us and he was able to explain tough concepts and frameworks/models in ways that I could easily understand. Honestly IGÇÖd like more problem sets and maybe some short answer ones that has open ended questions to prepare me for the exams, especially for the short answer section of the exam. Maybe if we had like exercises in class where we attempt to answer would be nice. But i know that there are certain students, like myself, who is kind of shy to answer or even speak up in class so I think he took care of that by just explaining the way to answer the practice questions himself. 1 He was very good at being a professor. Very clear and spoke slowly, so the material did not feel overwhelming. No changes necessary! 1 Professor Ian can easily describe topics and ease the difficulty of any aspect of the course by making lighthearted jokes. He is enthusiastic and doesn't make the class boring. I would 100% take another economics class if he was the professor for the class.
